May 8, 1997, was just like any other day in the Navy. Ships and Sailors were deployed around the world projecting power, “Forward ... From the Sea.” Some men and women went to work that day only miles from home, while others were at sea thousands of miles away from their families.

Our Navy is a global organization with a common purpose and spirit. This special issue of All Hands salutes our Sailors and captures how they serve our country “Any Day in the Navy — Anytime, Anywhere in the World.”
