FFSP Assists Navy Family Members with PCS Employment Concerns

Military family members who need assistance with employment issues due to a permanent change of station (PCS) move can receive help from their local Fleet and Family Support Program (FFSP).

The Navy's Family Employment Readiness Program (FERP) can assist family members with a variety of employment issues, including education and training resources, resume preparation assistance, effective job search techniques, federal employment opportunities, entrepreneur business opportunities, transferable job skills identification and volunteer opportunities.

FERP provides consultation with employment experts at no cost to the family member.

For more information on FERP, visit www.ffsp.navy.mil/seap/seap.htm.

For more information on FFSP or to locate the nearest Fleet and Family Support Center, visit www.ffsp.navy.mil or call their 24-hour information and referral hotline at 800-FSC-LINE.
