NECC Establishes Maritime Civil Affairs Group

The Navy Expeditionary Combat Command (NECC) officially established the Military Civil Affairs Group (MCAG) at Naval Amphibious Base (NAB) Little Creek, Va., March 30.

The MCAG mission is to assess, plan and execute civil affairs (CA) activities in the maritime operational environment. MCAG forces will also serve as first responders for disaster relief operations throughout the world.

The group is looking for Sailors E-5 and above, who want to do something different in the Navy. Qualified candidates must have good people skills, be ready to talk with people in foreign countries and be looking for a little adventure.

The command is headquartered at NAB Little Creek, and will consist of two coastal squadrons, one at Imperial Beach, Calif., and the other at the Cheatham Annex in Williamsburg, Va.
