

Navy Working Uniform Roll-Out Accelerated

Navy Exchange Command is accelerating its distribution schedule of the Navy Working Uniform (NWU), due to sufficient inventory of the most in-demand sizes, as early as next week, according to NAVADMIN 328/09.

As of Nov. 16, NWU components will be available for purchase and ordering at uniform centers located at Navy Exchange regions in the Southwest and Northwest.

Accelerated availability will take affect in the national capital region, and Hawaii beginning Nov. 30; and at Navy Exchange regions Europe, Japan and Guam the coming March 15.

The mandatory wear date remains Dec. 31, 2010 to ensure all Sailors have time to acquire correctly fitted uniform items.

To aid Sailors in ensuring the proper fit of the uniform, manufacturers have been conducting fit clinics at select, rollout locations.
