

The Source for Navy News

Captain's Call

Sailors Benefit as Navy Upgrades Detailing Program

The Navy announced the latest upgrade to Career Management System Interactive Detailing (CMS/ID).

CMS/ID is the Internet-based career tool that allows enlisted Sailors to research billets and apply for their next assignment through their career counselor.

An ongoing assessment and operational test of CMS/ID features a self-service option which allows Sailors to apply for jobs on the CMS/ID directly, without the assistance of a command career counselor. The Navy is currently conducting this test on a limited number of sea and shore platforms. A determination of when all Sailors can apply online will be made after the assessment is complete.

Among the upgrades announced in NAVADMIN 350/08:

CMS/ID will display a separate category for jobs supporting global war on terrorism (GWOT) assignments. GWOT assignments are distinguished in purple on the homepage and within the jobs tab of CMS/ID, making it easier for active-duty Sailors to view and apply for these career-enhancing and rewarding positions.

CMS/ID will link the Navy Enlisted Classification code (NEC) to the NEC manual which displays NEC details, course convening dates and prerequisites for awarding of the NEC.

CMS/ID will feature a shipboard server option that allows Sailors without Internet connectivity on participating ships to review and apply for billets.

Although all Reserve Sailors can currently apply online, this upgrade will bring near parity between the Reserve component and active component for a total force system.

All Sailors should review their professional data in CMS/ID to verify accuracy and completeness. Pay specific attention to perform-to-serve approval, exceptional family member status, security clearance, evaluations and fitness reports and NECs earned.

For more information read NAVADMIN 350/08 available at www.npc.navy.mil.

