NKO's Practice Tests Help Sailors Improve Scores Online

Sailors can improve their Armed Forces Vocational Aptitude Battery (ASVAB) and College Level Examination Program (CLEP) test scores by accessing free practice tests now available through Navy Knowledge Online (NKO).

The practice tests are a part of the e-content services purchased by the Navy General Library Program and are available at no cost to Sailors and other authorized NKO users. The online practice tests for ASVAB and CLEP will help Sailors identify their strengths and weaknesses, and focus their study time where they need it.

Unlimited ASVAB practice tests may be taken online at <https://www.nko.navy.mil/>, along with CLEP tests in algebra, American government, English composition, humanities; information systems and computers, mathematics, natural history, social sciences and history.

In addition, a limited number of CLEP practice tests are available through NKO for biology, chemistry; freshman composition, principles of management, psychology and U.S. History I and II.

NKO can also be used to search for information on distance learning programs, schools that offer traditional undergraduate and graduate degrees, and available educational scholarships.
